

Senior CABP members make our day

Peter and Margaret Wells informed and enjoyed the good people who participated in a public information meeting in the community of Dundas on the western edge of Lake Ontario.

One of the most pleasurable experiences of the fall for my husband Peter and me was to notice that some of CABP's more senior members formed a goodly portion of the crowd of 50 or so people who turned out for the information meeting we held in the pretty town of Dundas, Ontario, in September. It was particularly gratifying to see Messrs Harrington, Freelove and Anderson – all of them in their 90s and steadfastly resolute in their support of our campaign to gain them an indexed pension.

We were also delighted to welcome seven new members to CABP that afternoon and to renew six memberships including one that had been lapsed since 2008. Always very rewarding for us. Many thanks to volunteers Peter Kennan, Richard Nettleton and Nancy Buckley for assisting with logistics, and special recognition to Win Czum who organized the event through her church, St. Paul's United, and even supplied a great cuppa for everyone.
